Lecturer in Adult Nursing

School of Healthcare, Academic Unit of Adult, Child and Mental Health Nursing, Faculty of Medicine and Health.

Are you ready to join an enthusiastic and academically talented team? Do you want to be involved in teaching undergraduate and post graduate students and supervising PhD students? Are you a registered adult nurse with the Nursing and Midwifery Council or eligible for registration?

The School of Healthcare's vision is that:

'We will translate excellence in research and scholarship, within each of our academic portfolios, into an exceptional student experience, and make a major impact upon society.'

As a Lecturer in Adult Nursing you will contribute particularly to pre-registration nurse education, supervise and postgraduate taught students and lead developments in this role.

As a Lecturer in Adult Nursing you will have a PhD (essential at Grade 8, desirable at Grade 7) in a relevant subject (or equivalent) or are nearing completion of a postgraduate research degree at a comparable level. You will also be a registered adult nurse with the Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC), or be eligible for registration, have practice experience, and have a teaching qualification or be willing to undertake one when in post.

What does the role entail?

As a Lecturer in Adult Nursing (at Grade 7 level), your main duties will include:

- Provide innovative undergraduate and postgraduate research-led teaching and assessment, using technology where appropriate, and regularly respond to student feedback;
- Contribute, or lead where appropriate, to the planning, development, delivery and review of modules and programmes, and aligned administrative and quality assurance mechanisms;
- Provide tutorial support and academic supervision to undergraduate and postgraduate students and provide appropriate and timely feedback to students, referring when appropriate;
- Contribute to selection of students, administration and committees where appropriate;

- Contribute towards development of curricula where appropriate;
- Be actively involved in the generation and dissemination of scholarship e.g. relating to student education, practice, knowledge transfer or knowledge generation via projects or PhD supervision where appropriate;
- Be actively involved in, or lead where appropriate, initiatives (sustained or one-off) as requested that support the School's programmes, priorities and performance.

In addition to the duties above, at Grade 8 level you will also:

- Provide and lead innovative undergraduate and postgraduate research-led teaching and assessment, using technology where appropriate, and regularly respond to student feedback;
- Have significant involvement in the planning, development, delivery and review of modules and programmes, and aligned administrative and quality assurance mechanisms;
- Have significant involvement in the tutorial support and academic supervision of undergraduate and postgraduate students and provide appropriate and timely feedback to students, referring when appropriate;
- Provide academic leadership by effective contribution to administration, committees, mentorship, selection of students and, where appropriate, recruitment of staff and one-off projects of the School, Faculty or University;
- Effectively contribute towards operational and strategic development of curricula and learning, teaching and student support policies;
- Lead or co-lead the generation and dissemination of scholarship, within and external to University, e.g. relating to student education, practice, knowledge transfer or knowledge generation via projects or PhD supervision;
- Provide academic leadership e.g. contribution to the overall work of the University and/or equivalent external organisations by representing the School and Faculty or University on appropriate committees and groups;

These duties provide a framework for the role and should not be regarded as a definitive list. Other reasonable duties may be required consistent with the grade of the post.

What will you bring to the role?

As a Lecturer in Adult Nursing, at Grade 7, you will have:

- Master's degree in a relevant subject
- Fellowship of the Higher Education Authority or similar or willing to achieve;
- Current active registration with the Nursing and Midwifery Council;
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills;
- Evidence of a developing scholarship portfolio relevant to the School. For example through presentation of papers or posters, contribution to internal or external funding streams supporting scholarships / research network activities, developing practice, guidelines or policies;
- Experience and willingness towards supporting students in relevant practice;
- The ability to motivate and engender enthusiasm in others, as evidenced, for example, in student feedback obtained from teaching;
- Knowledge and awareness of current educational technological advances and a willingness and ability to incorporate innovative approaches in student education;
- A clear understanding of teaching agenda at local, regional or national level and experience of teaching students (informal or formal) in Adult Nursing;
- Ability to work independently and within a team environment including a willingness to travel e.g. work on and off campus for student education;
- As an NMC registrant you should maintain registration with the NMC whilst employed with the University of Leeds, confirming to your line manager by providing documentary evidence;

You may also have:

- A PhD / Professional or Education Doctorate, or close to completing, or equivalent experience in an appropriate discipline;

In addition to the criteria above, at Grade 8 level you will also:

- A PhD / Professional or Education Doctorate, or close to completing, or equivalent experience in an appropriate discipline;
- Experience of planning, development, delivery and assessment of student education including administration and quality assurance related to both university academic and relevant practice learning;

- Established track record of innovative undergraduate and postgraduate research-led teaching, using technology where appropriate and evidence of responding to student feedback;
- Previous experience of collaborating on scholarly projects and dissemination e.g. external or internal funding to develop student education, practice, knowledge transfer or knowledge generation;
