Research Fellow

School Fine Art, History of Art & Cultural Studies

Overview of the Role

Are you an ambitious researcher looking for your next challenge? Do you have an established background in participatory/action research? Do you want to further your career in one of the UK's leading research intensive Universities?

We are pleased to offer this opportunity for a participatory researcher to join the School of Fine Art, History of Art and Cultural Studies.

The research project, Inclusive Art for Wicked Problems, is funded by UKRI via a Future Leader Fellowship and will be delivered in collaboration with inclusive arts organisation Pyramid. The study begins on the 2nd of September 2024 and will last for 48 months. It will use an arts-based systemic action research methodology to mobilise the expertise and creativity of learning disabled and neurodiverse artists across the challenges of the social care system. This includes a methodological work package to generate new ways of working that bridges inclusive arts practice and systemic action research, an international collaboration between the UK team and a researcher and art museum professionals in Brazil, and a locally embedded systemic action research project led by Pyramid artists across the Leeds City Region tackling the urgencies and issues with affect them.

The post-holder will work under the supervision of Dr Jade French. They will be engaged in a variety of activities including developing the methodology, reviewing literature and policy, facilitating a strand of systemic action research, organising stakeholder engagement, communications, and reporting in a variety of ways.

While most of the work will be located in Leeds across the university campus and Pyramid's studio (Holbeck, Leeds), the post will involve travel across the Leeds City Region and occasional travel to Brazil. There is scope for some hybrid working. There will be opportunities to develop skills and knowledge including internal and external training.

Main duties and responsibilities

As a Research Fellow your main duties will include:

- Contributing to project set-up, for example gaining ethical approval, in consultation with Dr Jade French and wider team;
- Organising and attending regular meetings with the project lead, wider team, and broader stakeholders including social care professionals and community groups;
- Taking the lead on sourcing, reviewing and critically analysing relevant literature from a wide range of scholarly and policy/practice-related sources;
- Contributing to developing the methodology in collaboration with the wider team and stakeholders;
- Liaising with a professional film company to enable them to document the project in line with research aims and ethics;
- Working collaboratively with a team in Brazil to contribute to setting up a new inclusive arts studio in São Paulo as a strand of action research;
- Taking the lead on facilitating a strand of systemic action research in the Leeds City Region in collaboration with Pyramid and their artists;
- Working collaboratively with the wider team to analyse and integrate the mixed methods data;
- Co-ordinating connections between research findings and relevant decision-makers or professional bodies where impact can be made;
- Supporting the organisation and curation of an exhibition at the university to showcase the research in collaboration with wider team;
- Lead and/or assist in writing up and disseminating study findings through articles, blogs, professional facing reports/guides, social media, and presentations, or sharing of outputs like artworks and film;
- Supporting the development and maintenance of the project website and other web-based sources of information about the project;
- To contribute to, and to encourage, a safe and accessible working environment.

These duties provide a framework for the role and should not be regarded as a definitive list. Other reasonable duties may be required consistent with the grade of the post.

Qualifications and skills

Essential

- A PhD in a relevant disciplinary area;
- Previous experience in conducting participatory/action research with communities;
- Excellent organisational and time management skills, with an ability to respond effectively to people's access requirements and professional commitments;
- A track record of facilitating community and public engagement with research;
- Experience of conducting literature reviews;
- A developing track record of peer reviewed publications;
- Outstanding communication skills, both written, verbal, and non-verbal, and the ability to communicate effectively and flexibly in diverse formats (e.g., workshops, articles, presentations, reports, exhibitions, social media, film) to a wide range of people and professions;
- An understanding of, and commitment to, promoting equality, diversity, and inclusivity

Desirable

- Previous experience of collaborating with disabled, learning disabled, and/or neurodiverse people and their networks in research or social care;
- Previous evidence of arts-based or creative methods;
- Previous experience of policy engagement and writing
